GRAPH

From here on out we will be working from the graph. Each box on the graph equals one stitch. We will start in the bottom right corner at Box 1/1.

It's important that for the graph portion you work loosely. Your hook should easily slide into the stitch. I have a tendency to work on the tighter side, if you are like me, it might take you a couple tries of the first two rounds to get your tension right.

Your slip stitches will be worked into the top of the first single crochet of the round. Pull both your slip stitch and chain one tightly. This will help hide these stitches.

Instead of doing a traditional single crochet we will be single crocheting into the "V" created by the previous row. Your hook should slide easily into the stitch, if it doesn't you need to loosen your tension.

I will walk you through a few rounds to get you started...

(Switch to I Hook)

Round 1: [with grey] SC in all; SL; CH 1 (70)

Round 2: [with grey] SC 9; [switch to dark purple] SC 1; repeat from * 6 times; SL; [switch to dark purple; CH 1 (70)

Round 3: [with dark purple] SC; [switch to grey] SC 7; [switch to dark purple] SC 3; repeat from * 5 times; [switch to grey] SC 7; [switch to dark purple]; SC 2; SL; CH 1 (70)

Because weaving in ends is probably my least favorite part of crochet, I carry my yarn. I make sure that the yarn being carried is crocheted over by the new color and isn't pulled too tightly. As you can see it creates a rather tidy looking inside. It is a personal preference though, so it's up to you whether to carry your yarn or not.

Continue to follow the graph until you finish Round 28.

To close the top we will be doing traditional SCTog stitches (not through the "V" stitches like before.)

Round 29: SCTog all; SL; CH 1 (35)

Round 30: SCTog 17 times; SC; SL; fasten off leaving at least a 24" tail (18)

With your yarn needle and thread tail: Weave in and out of the stitches (all the way around) and pull tightly to close. Weave in your ends and attach pompom.

I hope that you are as twitterpated as I am with this pattern. If you make a hat of your own I would love to see pictures of your creations. Post them in the comment section.
